About the program

The Australia Indonesia Youth Exchange Program (AIYEP) is a fully funded program sponsored by the Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade, offering the opportunity for young people aged 21–25 from Indonesia and Australia to spend time in both countries learning about each other's cultures, and expanding their personal and professional network across the Australia-Indonesia diplomatic, academic and business world.

Internship

For Australian businesses this program offers the opportunity to engage in a high quality personal, cultural and professional exchange, sharing their experience of diverse aspects of Australian work culture with young representatives from Indonesia. In 2023, this experience will take place over three weeks and participants are expected to engage in 30 hours of work per week during the full time internship.

How do I host an intern?

The Indonesian delegates come from a variety of professional and educational backgrounds and cultural regions of Indonesia. They are university educated graduates or students in education, international relations, engineering, health sciences, law, business, IT, communications and other fields.

AIYEPers can work in your organisation while developing intercultural skills and learning about Australian work and organisational culture.

Value Learning provides support for you to develop a work plan suitable for an AIYEP internship, and we also support and train AIYEPers in Australian workplace norms and expectations.

Frequently Asked Questions

Why should I host an AIYEPer in my workplace?

Hosting an AIYEPer in your workplace gives you and your colleagues the opportunity to engage with people from another culture. Your workplace will contribute to Australia's bilateral relations with Indonesia, and you may even be able to develop new avenues for your business' external relations.

What is the specific schedule?

Internships will take place between November 13 and December 1 2023. AIYEPers are expected to spend a minimum of 30 hours a week working in the allocated organisation.

What sort of work can AIYEPers be involved in?

AIYEP participants come from a variety of professional and educational background that could be suited to your workplace. As part of the internship, AIYEPers could be involved in teaching assistance, research, administrative tasks or contribute to a specific project in your organisation. Hosting an AIYEP participant in your workplace presents a fabulous opportunity to explore new areas or projects that can complement the work of your office.

Must I provide payment or a stipend?

As part of the AIYEP agreement, internships are not to be remunerated.

Can I host more than one participant in my workplace?

Absolutely!

What support is offered to AIYEP host organisations?

Host organisations will be able to contact the Program Assistant at any time during office hours should they have any questions or queries prior to and during the hosting experience.

How do I apply to host an AIYEPer in my workplace?
